Health and Safety Policy

Safety is the priority in any event and is not sacrificed for any time or money pressures. If works cannot be conducted in a safe manner, then works will not be undertaken. We treat the safety of our individuals first and foremost, and we encourage safe practice both at the workplace and at home.

To ensure that the above commitment is delivered we will:

- Maintain positive and free flowing communication throughout the company structure enabling improvements to be captured wherever possible;
- Develop, implement, and monitor risk management systems for all tasks that are undertaken;
- Establish measurable objectives and targets for health and safety with a view to eliminate work-related injury and illness;
- Constantly review our structures and procedures for improvement;
- Ensure compliance with all relevant health and safety Legislation, Standards, Regulations, statutory obligations, and Codes of Practice; and
- Actively involve employees, subcontractors, and suppliers in the development and ongoing reviews of the Safe Work Method Statements. This ensures that the most practical approach is taken and increases the likelihood of acceptance and adherence to the systems.

Safety is the responsibility of every employee. The primary aim is to send each individual home in the same state of health of which they arrived to work.
